PUBLIC SCHOOLS. - A comparative statement. published in the Elucational Journal of Virginia, shows 4,185 public schools in the State in 1875 against 3,047 in 1871; of these 155 are graded. The whole number of pupils enrolled is 184,486 against 131,088 in 1871. The numher in daily attendance has risen from 75,-722 to 103 927. The percentage of school population enrolled has risen from 31 8 to 38 2, and that in average attendance from 18 8 to 21 5. The attendance of those enrolled seems, however, to have bee me less, being now 56.3 per cent, while it was 59 in 1871. The number of t achers in 1871 was 3,084; it is now 4,262. Great improvement has been made in school property. In 1871 there were only 190 school houses, valued, with their furniture, at $211,-166, belonging to the school districts; there are bow 1,256, worth $757.181. In 1871 the schools were taug. t, on an average, 4 66 months, now longer. The average cost of tuition has de which again make "truth stranger than fic- zen of Fairtax county, died yesterday at the who res is portion of the scripture, and dis the average salary of teachers has risen from $29 86 to $30.48. WASHINGTON AND OHIO RAILWAY.-Yesterday a delegation of West Virginia capitalists and land-holders held an informal meeting in be heard during the winter or spring, as it is a Philadelphia in reference to the extension of privileged case under the rules of the Court of the Washington and Ohio railroad. Among those present were Coi. John E. Wood, Hon. Alex. R. Boteler and Hou. James D. Armstrong. Col. Wood had an interview with Col. Thos. A. Scott on the subject. If the extension, as proposed, is carried out, it is said that traffic will be diverted from the Batimore and Ohio railroad.

DECREE FOR DIVORCE.-Yesterday, in the Equity Court, Judge Wylie made a decree divorcing Corinda E. Massey from the bonds of matrimony with Wm. A. Massey, awarding the custody of the chi'd to complainant. The parties were married at Albany, New York, in April, 1871, and soon afterwards came to Washington, and she charges that he has become a habitual drunkard, and has failed to Support her since January, 1874, and about two months ago he left her. - Wash. STREET IMPROVEMENT. - Superintendent of Police Clifford completed to day the improvement he has been engaged in for some-time past on north Washington street, and the appearance of that part of the town has been considerably beneficted thereby. The improvement consists in the setting of the curb stones and the same time taking the lion's share of the the other for shooting within the Corporation the paving of the gutters on Washington street between Pendleton and Wythe street.

PECAN NUTS .- A lot of pecan nuts were in market this morning, the product of several trees growing on the farm of Mr. Frank Rosier, in Prince George's county, Md., just opposite this city. It is supposed these trees were broug t here by Col. W. H. Daingerfield from Texas, where they are indiginous, and to which the Colonel was one of the earliest emigrants from this part of the State.

DANGEROUS RANGING GROUNDS.—Dogs have so defaced some of the city grave yards ties have been charged with violation of the by scratching up the grass in their search for ground mice, that the sexton, in order to stop the defacement, has been compelled to scatter poisoned meat through those places. Persons, therefore, owning dogs, whose lives they wish to preserve, should take care to keep them away from the dangerous locality.

A DISTRESSING DENOUEMENT. -

The wedding day appointed was, The wedding clothes provided, The wedding day arrived, alas! But the twain were far divided.

Another instance of the vanity of human hopes and anticipations came to light on Monday last in the abrupt termination of arrangements which had been conducted on a grand scale for a proposed wedding, to have taken place, near Leesburg, on Thursday, the particulars of which have been known at this office for several days past, but the publication restrained in deterence to the feelings of those connected with the strange narrative. Since, however, partial accounts of the startling affair have been made public by the Washington and Baltimore papers, which removed the veil of secrecy that has heretofore shrouded it, a detailed statement of "the true story," as narrated by friends of the parties, is now published, in which affection and fraud, romance and revel, form the outlines of a dramatic event of more thrilling interest because of its truth, than the imaginary creations of Corinne or the brilliant adaptations of Boucicault. The public announcement of the betrethal of a youthful and extravagant seion of an ancient, aristocratic family of Georgetown to the beautiful daughter of a wealthy retired leather merchant, formerly of Washington, but now the owner and occupier of a princely estate in Loudoun county, Virginia, in which were cortained high encomiums upon the candidates for the matrimonial yoke, created an intense interest rarely evoked by such an occasion, and public expectation was on the qui vive whilst some six hundred or so of invited guests estecmed themselves especially fortunate in beticipation of that event balls, parties and feasts were given by the friends of the betrothed couple to fill up the measure of the time, and precious presents of gold and silver, pearls and gems, were bestowed as faint testimonials of affection and esteem by the lavish hands of ardent admirers. The bridal trousseau, made gorgeous by the skill of expert milliners, was duly prepared to receive its lovely inhabitant, and the bridal cake, that sine qua non of a successful wedding, was duly installed with appropriate ceremonies, and in expectancy of the mmense number who would attend the ceremony a special palace car had been provided to transport the guests from Washington to the scene of so much expected happiness and joy. But such was predestined not to be, for the would be groom having dealt improperly with the property of his father and prospective father-in-law, thereby illicitly securing to himself large amounts of money, found concealment futile and saw discovery and exposure staring him in the face. In this emergency, in company with his brother, he sought the happy home of his affianced bride, and in the family presence made known the harrowing wrong. Overcome by the startling revelation | ment of costs, and denouement the lady fell back in a deathlike swoon, and the prospective groom becom-

THE ST. ASAPH-STREET CASE. -So far as the Circuit Court of this city is concerned, the long-agitated question as to the right of the Alexandria and Washington Railroad Company to occupy St. Asaph, between King and Princess streets, is answered by the decision of Judge Keith, rendered yesterday, in favor of "Mr Andrew Al xandria Will Please To the city. The legal consequences of this decibut the Company has asked for a stay for the period of sixty days, to consider the propriety of applying for an appeal. Should an appeal be applied for, and obtained, it will probably Appeals. There is no question involved that would enable the Company or the city to carry the case to the Supreme Court of the United States. It is not improbable that the pressure upon the City Council, on the part of those complaining of the obstruction of the street by the cars and engines of the Railroad Company, will compel the City Council to resi t the granting of the petition, praying for an appeal. It was rumored on the streets to-day that the railroad company, in consequence of the decision referred to above, and another one, of a day or two before, by which they lost a suit with the Alexandria Canal Company, had determined to tear up the track on St. Asaph street, and out as far as the Poor's House, and make their local, at their present through depot, on Fayette street.

A COMPLAINT FROM THE OYSTERMEN. -Considerable dissatisfaction exists among the captains and owners of oyster schooners who bring marine products to our wharves, in relation to the manner in which business is conducted by certain commission dealers and their numerous drummers, whom the captains allege practically control the oyster trade, and profits. In former times captains of oyster limits. vessels sold their cargoes direct to the hotel and restaurant keepers, without the interference of middle men; but the trade has been so manipulated by these agents, it is alleged, that the old custom has been entirely broken up, the keepers of restaurants and other consumers depending altogether on the middle men for their supplies. This has resulted in driving many of the oystermen to other markets, and in some instances the abandonment of the business by old oyster dredgers who no longer find it profitable. They also state that recent decisions in the Police Court, in cases where parlaw regulating the sale of oysters, have worked very much to their prejudice. It is probable that some action will soon be taken by these oy-termen to secure their rights through a mutual protection organization. - Wash. Star.

Every circumstance seemed to point with peculiar felicity to the "consumation so devoutly to be wished," and in an sumation so devoutly to be wished, and in an self-possessed of all those qualities of kindness. gentleness, valor and courtesy, which go to make up the true man. No better appointment could be made for the position, and we hope the Virginia delegation will press his claims.

> ASSAULT ON A SAILOR. - I'be Washington Chronicle says: "Yesterday morning, a sailor named John Chambers, was taken to the Third Precinct station house, Georgetown, in a very bad condition. He stated that he was assault ed by the mate of the schooner Salterwaite, lying in the port of Georgetown, but gave no other particulars. The man's condition being critical, he was conveyed to the general hospitil. The officers started in pursuit of the mate, but failed to find him, he baving left the ves sel, and gone, as was supposed, to Alexandria, Virginia. The authorities there have been notified to keep a sharp lookout for him, and he will no doubt be captured."

LEDGER'S FLUID (RED), THE UNI VERSAL DISINFECTANT. (Perman-ganate of Soda.) It is the only true disinfectant known, all other preparations sold for this pur-pose being merely deodorizers (or articles which possess the property of overpowering unpleasant smells by their own pungent and often disagreeable and dangerous qualities.) It is particularly adapted for disinfecting sick rooms in cases of typhus fever, small pox, cholera, scarlet fever, diarrhese, and all contagious diseases, and for purilying rooms in which there are dead bodies, removing at once all unpleasant smells, and destroying effectually any latent germs of disease. By placing the diluted fluid in dishes or basins, about bed chambers, school rooms, work shops, hospital wards, &c., it keeps the air in a perfect state of purity. For stables, slaughter houses, butchers' shops, dairies, cellars, &c., it is invaluable, keeping them in a perfectly wholesome state, by merely sprinkling the diluted fluid over the floors and walls. It keeps dust bins, water closets, drains, urinals, &c., sweet and wholesome, by using once or twice a day. For sale by JANNEY & CO., day. For sale by
